Response to Interconnected Standard Setting for Corporate Reporting

Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CA ANZ) welcomes the opportunity to provide a response to Accountancy Europe on its thought leadership paper referred to above (the paper). We have focused our feedback on key areas where we consider we can add the most value. Appendix A provides more information about CA ANZ.

Key points:

- We are an advocate for the widespread adoption of a multi-capital approach to reporting which appropriately discloses and communicates how value is being created and protected on behalf of investors, by an organisation. Taking this approach supports a wider value creation discussion and also encourages organisations to consider both financial and non-financial risks and opportunities, and the way in which these are connected.
- We agree that the proliferation of non-financial information reporting initiatives can potentially result in confusion, inefficiencies, compliance fatigue and even greenwashing by organisations. As such, we support a move towards a connected global corporate reporting structure, particularly as outlined by Approach 4 which recognises the inherent connection between financial and non-financial information (rather than encouraging a siloed approach). We also broadly agree with the recommendations proposed by the International Federation of Accountants (IFAC), which were provided in response to this paper. We recommend that these are given due consideration.
- We support the standardisation of the language used with respect to both financial and non-financial information. In addition, we also agree that the conceptual framework developed should be founded in existing concepts and principals of other frameworks to avoid duplication of efforts and as a way to provide more certainty for organisations and users of the information being reported. We consider that the International Integrated Reporting Framework could provide a useful and suitable starting point.
