Guideline 1 - 1.13
Guideline 1 - 1.14
Guideline 2 - 1.15	The scheme of operations required by third country insurers should not be required to justify the differences between home country solvency rules and Solvency II's requirements. The third country insurer, may reasonably be expected to be able to explain what the differences are but would not necessarily be in a position to justify the reasons for them as the reasons for such differences will stem from the differing intentions of those who set the rules. Where national supervisors receive applications for branch authorisation from multiple insurers in the same third country, this guideline would require each insurer to submit an analysis of the differences between home country solvency rules and Solvency II's requirements. This could lead to multiple submissions of the same or similar information. To avoid unnecessary duplication, it is therefore suggested that this analysis should be required where requested by the supervisor rather than as a matter of course. Consideration should be given to disapplying this requirement where the home country solvency regime has been assessed as equivalent with Solvency II under Article 227 of the Solvency II Directive.

Guideline 40 - 1.67	The specification of the source of the exchange rate to be used for the balance sheet may require the undertaking to retranslate balance sheet items compared to the exchange rate used for branch accounting purposes. This may add undue complexity into the reporting process compared to permitting the use of the closing exchange rate used under the undertaking's applicable GAAP.
Guideline 43 - 1.70	For the sake of clarity, it may be helpful to specify in this Guideline how reported figures should be rounded (for example, always rounded up, or rounded up if greater than or equal to 0.50, rounded down otherwise).

TA I (18)	With respect to subparagraph (c), should the requirement to invest assets in accordance with the 'prudent person' principle apply only to the branch assets, rather than to all assets of the third-country insurance undertaking?
